Editorial

35000 persons... This new limit overcome last spring, confirms the growth and the health of the genealogic tree ...

Last researches where more focused on the village of Tourmont, continuing the descendance of the Gaudry and Mandrillon families, but also on the city of Poligny, which is like a hub for all villages around, including Buvilly. Poligny, where our recording project goes straight away, thanks to Jean Rottier, Annick and Alain Parmentelat and André Lecllet's huge work. Our genealogic meeting in June gave us an opportunity to meet and debrief all this work in the very nice atmosphere of Le Grapiot's restaurant.

Finally, an important milestone this summer was the meeting with our Canadian cousins, descendants of the Baverey, I discovered two years ago after a long search. You will find more details in the dedicated article. I make a special English version of this gazette, so that they can share with us the result of the last founds. Regarding the web site, even if its look did not change, navigation was reviewed and optimized to be compatible with all navigators...

So a full genealogic year ... same as this gazette ! I wish you a good reading and a successful restart !

1. New contacts

My search as I often repeated, not only consist in only finding new ancestors or cousins (even if it remains a motor), but also to get contacts to people who share the same interest with their origins.

A passion that can take different aspects, depending on the visions and the projects of each one. I already told about Luc Duboz's passion for his most far ancestors, or Christian Breniaux's passion to find all lastname holders of his one...

The last months gave me the opportunity to meet new persons sharing the same passion.

I will start with André Lecllet, from Anjou, who joined us in the Poligny recording project. I had the pleasure to meet him in June, invited by Camille and Jean Rottier. André is conducting in his city of Anjou a very interesting expérience of audio-archiving with old people... An experience we may also do one day in pour region.

Armed with an MP3-reader, he queries the olders, and then writes down the information in his computer. The result: the memory of our predecessors digitally stored for the next generations!

Another interesting meeting was the one with Linda Reverchon, who was introduced to me in the Archives du Jura by Nicole Millet grand-daughter of Elie Denêtre, who was doing some research in the archives on that day...

Linda, Canadian married to a Frenchman, speaks a perfect french, even if her mother tongue is English. She comes every summer to Jura, where her researches are focused on the Reverchon and Girod families, with the main goal to find links between all Reverchon families from High and Low Jura. She currently counts sixteen Reverchon families in the XVII<sup>e</sup> and XVIII<sup>e</sup> century.

I dedicated the third article of this gazette to our new Canadian contacts, linked to John Baverey's descendance, since I had the chance to meet them this summer in Canada.

Still oversees, that was very nice to meet Bernadette McBride, on June 3rd for our meeting in Pupillin. She lives near Seattle, in USA for about 40 years, but regularly comes to France. She told us how she discovered my web side doing some search on her family using the Google search engine. She could not believe to find such a big part of her genealogic tree already available! Since she was afraid that this information may disappear quickly, she did a lot of printing during the night! Bernadette participate also to the Poligny recording project, even if she gets some technical issues with the american keyboard, not well suited for entering our accents ...

Another funny meeting was the one with Christiane Lebeaud. We exchanged a post mail eight years ago. At this time we were not yet "cousins", although we were working on a lot of common families.

When I did the descending genealogy of the Marsoudet where I talk later on, I saw her name appearing. I obviously forgot that we had a contact eight years earlier! When I called her, she immediately made the link and told me that we already knew each other! I went then to my personal mail archives – as a good genealogist I keep track on all incoming mail – and I found her letter from 1999!

Christiane told me that we were also linked by the Maitrejean family, and that Etiennette Huot, my ancestor N°367 (SOSA), wife of Oudot François Robert, married again in 1733 with Pierre Mandrillon, from Château-Chalon (there will not be any children.) She should have died around 1741 in Château Chalon. Thanks to Christiane, Danielle Gindre, born 1945 in Dôle, who already was in my tree as wife of Louis Albert Saudubois, becomes cousine, also via a Maitrejean family link.

My last "message to the cousins", launched a few months ago allowed me to add some new cousins to the tree but also to take contact with far cousins – in the geographical and genealogical sense – like for example Florence Robert, wife Bresson, grand-grand daughter of Marie Héloïse Baverey (1867 + 1955), born in Buvilly, died in Boissy le Châtel, near Paris. Florence gave me the last up to date informations on her cousins.

Je will also mention Christian Foyet, who, although not (yet) parent, did the recording of all church registers of Aumont, and with whom we certainly will find some relationship some day.

2. New branches

This article could in fact be now divided into two parts. The first one dedicated to the branches issued from the Buvilly families, the other one to the one issued from the Pupillin families since I did a lot of work on Pupillin, next village close from Buvilly where I also have ancestors. I will start with these ones.

I could reconstruct recently the descendance of Jules Maurice Jacquemin, born in Pupillin in 1898. His birth record mentioned his death in Belley, in Ain, in 1961. His death record tell us that he was living in a little village close to Belley, where I contacted the mairie, to ask if somebody knew him.

The mairie forwarded me to the priest, who knew a neighbor who was in touch with one of his daughters, Paulette.

So I finally could get in touch with this Paulette, who taught me that she had nine brothers and sisters, which makes the amount of Jules Maurice Jacquemin's grand childrens to 25! This Paulette unfortunately passed away, a few months after our phone contact.

Still in Pupillin, but this time thanks to internet, I received from Marc Bertholino un message from Guy Labbe, relative to the descendance of Laure Anne Juliette Bouilleret. She was born in Pupillin in 1898, her both brothers will died during World War 1 and she will follow them since she dies 1922 in Champagnole.

This was all I knew, besides the fact that she married Marcel Pélissard, who was mentioned on her death record.

But Guy Labbe – who owns a tourist cottage in the Charentes (www.moulindecoutant.com) – tells us that Laure Anne Juliette got a daughter, Marie Louise, who was born in 1915, in Arbois, from an unknown father, later recognized by Marcel Pélissard.

Laure Anne was in fact in love with a certain Hilaire Joseph Trullard, from Chaussin, who did during a military break – he was in the war - "engrossé" Laure Anne. Exchange of mail, wedding promise during another military break.

Unfortunately Hilaire is killed on July 27th 1915, during the Alsace campaign, and will never know his daughter ...

When she was born, her parent goes to Hilaire's mother, in Chaussin and ask for a post-death marriage. Hilaire's mother reaction is very violent; she through Laure Anne parents away with insults and this is what will later explain the « forced » marriage of Laure Anne with Marcel Pélissard.

Marie Louise, will marry in 1937, in Paris with Pierre Touchaud, general custom inspector, who will give her a daughter, Danielle, in 1939. The oldest son of Danielle, Christophe Frouge, is a well known researcher on cancer in the United States, which can be verified by typing his name on the Google search engine !

The link with Guy Labbe who contacted us? Pierre Touchaud is the neveu of her mother-in-law! So he is not parent with us but counted us a nice story ... and let the tree growing again ...

An other Internet user, Jean Georges Fouissac, also contacted me, and corrected a union, where I misspelled the names Grillon and Guillon. This correction allowed me to deduct Estienne Guillon's descendance. She was born in 1742 in Pupillin, and married in 1766, in Pupillin, Jean Etienne Gardet. He will give her five children, among them Pierre Just (1768 +1837), who already figured in my tree. Another branche in Pupillin, the one of Gouillaud, could also be completed, again thanks to internet and Pierre-Yves Cunin. It is the descendance of Marie Antoinette Paulette Huguette Prince (1919 + 2003), grand-daughter of Jeanne Joséphine Marie Gouillaud (1853+1940). She married André Buatois. They moved to Lyon where they got four children.

The Chazerand family, from Les Planches near Arbois is also linked to my Pupillin families. There are still lots of research to do on this family because I dream to link all Chazerand families to Chazerand ancestors (Françoise Chazerand, born in 1697 in Les Planches, is my ancestor and she moved to Pupillin in 1715 when marrying Joseph Petit). So I am glad to be helped in this research by Brigitte Petite (with a e), who is very motivated for her Chazerand ancestors. She gave to me already some complements of informations, following her recent visit to the mairie of Les Planches last spring.

Another task was to find out the descendance of Anne Marie Elisabeth Bride, born in 1835 in Pupillin, grand-grand-grand-daughter of my ancestors Jean Claude Bride and Jeanne Antoine Fourbier, who used to live at the same time as Louis XIV, in Pupillin. She married 1850 Claude François Detroit from Aiglepierre, who will give her two daughters and two sons. I don't know yet the destiny of all of them but at least the one of the oldest one, Joseph Arsène, born 1862 in Aiglepierre, who will get ten children between 1888 and 1908.

3. Meeting with our canadian cousins

I related in previous gazettes the story who drove me to the discovery of the descendants of Louis Jean Baptiste Baverey (1872 + 1948). Born in Buvilly, he emigrated at the beginning of the 20th century to the new world, where he became John Baverey. I am in contact since that time with one of his grandsons, Jack Manson, who lives close to Kenora, in Ontario, where his grand-father used to live and his buried. At the beginning of this year Jack told me that on August 5th would take place in Kenora a big family meeting to celebrate the 75 anniversary of a wood cottage John Baverey built in 1932, for summer time during his pension since he was 60 at that time.

So I could convince my wife and my son to organize our summer holiday around that date, with a trip to Canada with a stop in New York !

We took the plane July 28th for New York and reached Winnipeg on August 3rd. Carole, Jack's daughter and her husband were waiting for us at the airport and brought us to a summerhouse close to the lake which became the family meeting point in summer since the family is today geographically spread, just at the border between Ontario and Manitoba, and this is where we spent a wonderful week.

It was a big motion to join them for the weekend in front of lake that looks like almost like a private lake (only thirty cottages around). I had the opportunity to meet many of Louis Jean Baptiste Baverey's descendants, who came from all Canada from British Columbia to Toronto, and even from the United States, for this party organized by Jack and his daughter Carole.

The wood cottage built by John has become now kind of a family museum where we could look at family photos.

Jack told me that his grand-father bought the place 1932 for 50 Canadian dollars! It evaluated today to more than 150'000 dollars ! And in addition, the Canadian government forbid today to build new constructions around the lake to preserve the environment. So it is a wonderful place, linked by a one kilometer little road to the transcanadian highway N°1!

I learned by the way that John Baverey himself did the road when he bought the place. His son by law was working at the construction of the highway at the beginning of the 30, when one evening they came after work to refresh in the lake. John Manson – who is nobody else than Jack's father – , was so enthusiastic on the place – which we can understand – that he brought his father by law to the site. Convinced by the beauty of the site, John Baverey – « papa John » as he is known in the family – decided to acquire a piece of land on the lake and to build the famous cottage, which became his summer residence, and then the one of his daughter, his grand-children and today his grand-grand children. It is difficult to imagine that this lake where some cousins fish in summer, is covered by more than one meter ice in winter !

Jack was 16 when his grand father passed away 1948, so he knew him very well. However he did not learn much about his Jura origins, a bit like if he would have liked to forget his previous life in France when he immigrated to Canada. He describes him as a hard worker who had no time for entertainment, excepted in the evening ...

Some rumors circulates in the family that John would have deserted the French foreign legion before emigrating. It will be possible to make it clear on that point and I also expect a lot from the emigrant databases from Halifax, that used to be the entry point for Canadian immigrants – like Ellis Island in New York for American immigrants ... So there is still a lot of work ! However various family members want to come see the village of their ancestor. We wait for them in Buvilly !

4. Paul Giaouque (1894 +1979), senator of Jura and cousin

I spoke in the second article about Jean Estienne Colin's descendante. He was born in Builly in 1779, and brought me to the Ecoiffier family, as one of his grand-daughters, Virginie Clarisse, the fifth child marry in 1864 Charles Etienne Léonard Ecoiffier.

Her oldest daughter, Joséphine, will marry Pierre Trécourt.

On Joséphine's death record in 1953 in Besançon, her son in law, Paul Giaouque is mentionned, livig in Besançon, and senator of Jura.

I immediately contacted Louis Souvet, maire of the city of Montbéliard and senator of the Doubs (and also cousin), to ask him for some informations ont this senator. I met him three years ago in Montbéliard and we discovered a common point as we both were born a 19 of october ! He put me in relation with the Senat archive department, who friendly gave me some interesting informations on Paul Giaouque.

So I was able to find his descendants, among them his grand-son, Jean-Paul Giaouque, who is doctor in Versailles. I profit from this article to give a short biography of this Jura senator, born in Poligny the 15th of April 1894 and died in Besançon the 15th of August 1979.

He was councillor of République, then senator of Jura from 1946 to 1955. After primary school in Poligny, he will go to the professional school in Mouchard, will then be admitted in the Special Highschool for Civil Engineering.

Ingeneer in 1913, he find a job in Toul, as conductor for work in Génie militaire.

Septembre 1st 1914 he is in the 171e regiment of infanterie, becomes injured in 1915, then goes to the 44th regiment of infanterie, and takes part to the Champagne offensive, in April 1917. He will loose his right arm in the battle.

He receives in February 1918, the Croix de Guerre, the médaille militaire, and also the Légion d'honneur as a military title.

His hard war experience conducts him to militate for social values and he tries without success the legislatives elections of mai 1932, as a candidate of the parti démocrate républicain.

1936, he goes to Besançon, where he becomes 3 years later transport inspector of the department.

When WW2 starts his patriotic ideal conducts him to Resistance.

The april 1945 elections conduc he to the municipality council of Lons-le-Saunier, where hie will stay until 1953.

Paul Giaouque engage then in the MRP party ; he will be elected in 1946, in Jura, in the Council of République.

Most of his many interventions focuses on social and financial problems as well as those of veterans. Il will pass away in Besançon in 1979.

5. Our cousins prisoners

If I like to mention in my gazettes a senateur or somebody wo got the légion d'honneur, a bispo of an eminent professor discovered in my researches, I cannot ignore those who did not hace as much luck or who illustrated another way ...

So I gave some interest to the prison registers, with the original objective to know more about Jean Eléonore Loiseau (1799 + 1852), who died 1852 int the prison of Clairvaux (in northern France, one of the biggest of the country).

The administration of that prison told me that before joining this famous prison, he would certainly have been before prisoner in Jura.

My research did unfortunately not succeed; nevertheless the prison register N° 2Y56 gave me some names which are in my tree, like the Guignard from Vilette les Arbois, the Papillard, and Bouilleret from Pupillin.

I did not discover any prisoner from Builly - honor to the village! – But many of Pupillin ! The excess of the local wine may be the cause, or may be the wood work that attracted there more “foreign people” ... Some figure many times, for some other we find the father and the son on the same register page.

In a general way it is however only little petty theft, some bagarres, or night noise.

6. La famille Simonin de Poligny

Not translated

La branche Guignard de mon arbre est loin d'être la plus prolifique. Néanmoins, de temps à autre, elle s'agrandit. Mes recherches polinoises ont permis d'y ajouter récemment un rameau important et c'est cette découverte que je relate dans cet article.

J'ai tout d'abord retrouvé, en 1825, le décès de Marie Claudine Guignard, née en 1780 à Builly, qui a épousé tardivement, deux ans avant son décès, Claude Philippe Guédot, de Poligny. Le couple, établi à Poligny, n'aura pas d'enfants. J'ai également retrouvé le décès de sa cousine issue de germain, Marie Anne Guignard, née en 1784 à Builly, qui décèdera en 1831, également à Poligny, comme domestique, célibataire.

Mais c'est surtout le décès, en 1807, de Claudine Guignard, cousine germaine du père de Marie Anne qui nous intéresse. Fille de Jean Claude Guignard et de Françoise Barthod, cette dernière est née à Buvilly en 1739. Elle épousera en 1766 - à Poligny et non à Buvilly où vivait pourtant sa famille -, Nicolas Simonin de Poligny.

Le dépouillement de Poligny en cours m'a permis de retrouver son acte de mariage, ainsi que les enfants issus de cette union, tous nés à Poligny.

On en compte trois pour l'instant, Jeanne Claudine, morte en bas âge, Jeanne Simone, née en 1779, dont on ignore encore le destin, et enfin Claude Pierre, leur frère (1772 + 1851) dont les descendants ont pu être retrouvés.

Il épouse Jeanne Marie Gagneur, de Molain, qui lui donne sept enfants en pleine période napoléonienne (entre 1802 et 1817).

Parmi eux deux meurent en bas âge, deux filles restent célibataires (l'une décède à Poligny, l'autre à Molain) et trois garçons se marient, donnant une descendance Simonin à Poligny.

Le plus âgé, Etienne Gabriel (1804 + 1889) sera professeur à Paris, épousera une belge et aura une fille dont je recherche le destin.

Le cadet Jean Athanase (1809 + 1875) a deux fils, et le benjamin Louis Gaspard (1815 + 1871) aura, lui, six enfants. Les quatre aînés naîtront à Poligny mais les deux derniers à Rotalier, où Louis Gaspard exerçait l'activité de régisseur.

Ils vont nous amener aux familles Gravier et Gros de Poligny mais aussi à Lons le Saunier.

Dans la famille Gros, Jeanne Marie Félicité, figurait déjà dans mon arbre, comme épouse de Louis Francis Chèvre, le grand-père de Jeanne Trannoy, de Poligny. Je cousinais déjà avec elle par les Mongenet et les Maitrejean ; nous avons donc un nouveau lien de parenté désormais !

7. Du côté de Tourmont, les familles Mandrillon, Gaudry, Bonnin et Renaud

Not translated

Mes travaux sur la commune de Tourmont avaient démarré avec pour objectif de retrouver une partie de l'immense descendance de mes ancêtres Oudot François Robert et Etiennette Huot, mariés en 1714 à Buvilly.

C'est cette descendance qui m'a amené en particulier aux familles Gaudry et Mandrillon, puis Bonnin et Renaud. Elle m'a beaucoup occupé ces derniers mois, et déjà fait l'objet d'articles dans les dernières gazettes. Je relate ici l'avancement de ces travaux.

L'une des filles d'Oudot François Robert, Claudine, épouse Claude François Mandrillon de Tourmont.

De cette union naîtront deux fils, Pierre François et Denis Mandrillon. Le premier aura un garçon et quatre filles. C'est la descendance prolifique de ces cinq enfants que je vais tenter de résumer ...

Le seul garçon, Claude François, aura déjà une importante descendance, qui nous conduit vers les familles Berçot, Richardot, Jour'd'hui, mais aussi à la branche Mandrillon de Buvilly.

En effet les descendants des familles de Tourmont reviennent ici à Buvilly : Auguste Edmond Séraphin Mandrillon, né à Tourmont en 1873, se marie à Buvilly en 1903, puis en 1920, et donnera naissance en tout à sept enfants à Buvilly. Parmi ces derniers, André, époux d'Yvonne Denêtre, qui se trouvait déjà dans mon arbre comme allié.

Idem pour sa soeur, Marie Augusta, qui épouse en 1911 à Buvilly, Xavier Joseph Munerot. Elle n'aura pas d'enfants, car elle décède l'année suivant son mariage.

Deux des filles, Jeanne Louise et Elisabeth Françoise épouseront respectivement Claude Louis Gaudry et Claude Pierre Gaudry. Ceci unit doublement les familles Mandrillon et Gaudry.

Jeanne Louise aura deux enfants de Claude Louis Gaudry, Grégoire et Euphrosine. La descendance de Grégoire est encore en chantier, quant à Euphrosine, elle épouse également un Gaudry - pas encore cousin celui-là - et le patronyme reste donc conservé.

Les sept enfants de cette union donnent naissance aux familles Petetin puis Faudot et Gaudry, Barlier, et Fournier de Tourmont.

Il serait fastidieux de détailler toutes ces branches et sous-branches. Il est toutefois amusant de voir comment elles s'enlacent les unes dans les autres dans une complexité sans fin ...

C'est ainsi que la descendance des Petetin m'a amené à Séverine Poux, née en 1974 à Lons le Saunier, qui figurait déjà dans mon arbre comme épouse de Jean-Pierre Midol avec qui je suis cousin. Cette même descendance, qui nous conduit aux familles Faudot et Paillot, puis Sigonney, m'a enfin conduit à Orchamps-Vennes dans le Doubs. Claude Faudot, né en 1942 à Poligny, y épouse en effet Isabelle Tyrode ... or cette dernière se trouve parente avec la famille Marguier de Jeanne Tinguely, qui, bien que non parente avec nous, fait partie de la famille, ayant appris à marcher à mon père !

Elisabeth Françoise aura, elle, huit enfants de Claude Pierre Gaudry. On perd la trace d'un certain nombre d'entre eux, mais Pélagie, l'une des filles donne naissance aux familles Guyot, puis Labre et Robert, et sa soeur Anne Françoise à toute la famille Vernier.

Une troisième soeur, Jeanne Baptiste, épousera Claude François Renaud, qui lui donnera sept enfants. Parmi eux, Claude Françoise Renaud (1813 + 1874), qui épouse Honoré Jean Emile Marsoudet en 1833.

Le couple aura lui-aussi sept enfants.
Je n'ai pour l'instant découvert la descendance que d'un seul d'entre eux ... mais quelle descendance !
De son mariage avec Marie Louise Bousson, Auguste Marsoudet aura en effet huit enfants, tous nés à Pretin, où le couple s'est établi.
Si trois d'entre-eux meurent jeunes, les cinq autres - deux filles et trois garçons - auront de nombreux enfants.

Les trois garçons perpétuent le patronyme Marsoudet avec des descendants encore à Pretin, mais également à Cessey, dans le Doubs, qui m'ont aidé à compléter cette grande branche.

Les deux filles créent les deux familles Vuillamy et Lebeaud. C'est en reconstituant la descendance Lebeaud que je suis tombé sur Christiane Lebeaud, dont j'ai parlé précédemment, mais aussi Marie Thérèse Barberet, qui n'est autre que l'épouse de Claude Romanet, maire de Pretin et président de la communauté de communes de Salins, avec qui je cousinais déjà ! Me voici donc maintenant parent avec son épouse !

La descendance de la famille Vuillamy, de Montigny les Arsures a, elle aussi, bien avancé, même si elle n'est pas encore terminée.

Quant à la benjamine, Jeanne Pierrette, elle épousera Pierre Polycarpe Bonnin. Je perds pour l'instant la trace de deux des quatre enfants de leur union, mais Appoline va retrouver la branche Mandrillon précédemment citée, en épousant son cousin germain, Marc Mandrillon, fils de Claude François, en 1848 ...
Quant à son frère, Claude François (1824 + 1863), il aura un garçon, Adolphe Félicien, et deux filles, Marie Mathilde et Marie Olympe.

Adolphe Félicien aura deux filles, qui nous amènent, la première vers la famille JeanJacques, et la seconde de nouveau vers la famille Mandrillon (mais une autre branche).

J'ai retrouvé les descendants de la famille JeanJacques grâce à André Meyer qui m'a contacté par internet, et, sur place, à Poligny, Laurence Mandrillon, née en 1960 m'a aidé à reconstituer la descendance de cette branche Mandrillon.

Marie Olympe, l'une des deux soeurs d'Adolphe Félicien épouse un Jacquet de Saône et Loire et le couple s'établit à Lyon, j'en perds pour l'instant la trace. Quant à l'autre soeur, Marie Mathilde, elle épouse Abel Octave Ressay de Tourmont, qui lui donnera cinq enfants.

Leur descendance nous conduit aux familles Fournier, Cuissard, Clazone, Grand et Boisson, dont certaines sont encore sur Tourmont, comme Stéphane Fournier, qui m'a aidé à recenser les nombreux descendants de sa famille, dont Brigitte Fournier, qui figurait déjà dans mon arbre comme épouse de Rémy Jacquot.

Il est important de signaler que le CEGFC a fait le dépouillement complet des registres paroissiaux de Tourmont. Voilà qui ouvre de nouvelles perspectives pour les recherches, mais j'avoue ne pas avoir encore eu le temps de me pencher sur les résultats de ces dépouillements - à suivre.

8. From Buville to Buville across Miéry and Le Fied ...

I often mentioned the surprises we may have when doing some genealogic researches. You will find here an amazing historic and geographic loop around Buville.

In the frame of my researches on the Maitrejean family, I started last spring to find out the descendants of Jeanne Bernardine Maitrejean, born in Miéry in 1816, who married Claude François Picaud from le Fied, where he died as he was 31...

This Jeanne Bernardine was the grand-daughter from Jean-François Maitrejean, born in Buville in 1749. He created the Maitrejean branch of Miéry, when marrying Marie Françoise Parrad, in 1777.

So we leave Buville, just before french revolution for Miéry, before arriving to le Fied under Louis Philippe, where Jeanne Bernardine, in her short family life (ten years), will have four children.

The two oldest sons will « share » the same wife ; in fact she firsts marry the youngest one, Jean Claude, who pass away in 1873 ; she then marry again with his older brothe, Adophe Edmond, who will give her five children, all born in le Fied.

Among them, Alexandre Eucher, born in 1875, and Paul Elie Antide, born in 1880. Both brothers will marry in Buville, the first one in 1909, with Antoinette Célestine Gauthronet, and the second one in 1908, with Lucie Othilie Loiseau, then in 1921 with Louise Léonie Nouveau. So we are back in the village, just before World War 1!

Did both brother know, when they married, that they where back in the native village for their grand-grand-grand father, Jean François Maitrejean, who left it 130 years earlier?

If we descend one more generation, we will find the (unique) daughter of Alexandre Eucher, who is nobody else than Maria Picaud, born in Buville in 1910, died last year in Tarn, at the respectable age of 96 ans. She married twice in Buville, first in 1930 with Marius Chaillet, then in 1936 with Edmond Maxime Elie Mercet, who will gave her five children all born in Buville during the war.

I am still searching for Noëlle, Pierre et Jeanne, born in 1938, 1942 et 1943, who went to Lorraine.

On the side of Paul Antide, we find the direct cousine of Maria Picaud. One year younger, she has the same first name (Maria), was born in Salins, and will live as long as her cousin, since she passes away in 1998 at Pont d'Héry. She will marry Léon Jules Bonjour who will give her two children, Paulette and Marcel, who lives in Salins.

In the serie all paths brings to Buvilly, I had also the surprise to link Jocelyn Maublanc, a new Buvilly inhabitant to my tree.

In fact he does't have any ascendance in Buvilly, but is linked to my tree through the Perron family of Saint Lothain, to which he is linked through the Salin family. And I am also linked to the Perron family through the grand mother of my grand grand grand father, Jean Lucien Guignard (1810 +1866), who was Marie Françoise Perron, from Saint Lothain.

9. The unknown soldier of Pupillin

On the monument aux morts from Pupillin we find a certain Léon Mouget, for whom I did not find any death record in the village and not any birth record neither.

So he became form me the unknown soldier of Pupillin, because I did'nt have any Mouget family in the village. Thanks to the web site "Mémoire des hommes", dedicated to soldiers dead for France during World War 1, I finally could identify him.

We learn on his death card that he was caporal in the 101° régiment d'infanterie, went to Germany as prisoner and died there the 4th of January 1919, as he was coming back. It is indicated as born in Nozeroy, where I could find his birth record, the 11th of mai 1881.

He was the son of Jean Pierre Joseph Mouget and Marie Victorine Guyon. Both did not die in Pupillin, so we can deduct that this Léon Mouget was living alone in Pupillin when he went to war in 1914.

Although he had no family link in the village, his name his on the monument because it was the place he was living in when he was called for war.

10. Genealogic surprises

I inserted in the previous gazette an article on "genealogic strange things" ; so I continue it here with some new surprises.

Let's start with Claudie Petot, who marry Claude Petit ... She is the daughter of Marie Henriette Chazerand, a cousin from Pupillin, while his husband has nothing to do with my Petit family from Pupillin.

With continue with Joël Prillard, grand son of Elisabeth Détroit, who get twins in 1990. This can happen ... But more rare is the repetition of the phenomenon ... This is what happens to Joël, who get again twins eleven years later ! Certainly some genetical predisposition ...

Another case frequent in the past, is the one where two sisters marry two brothers ... But more rare however is the case of the Violas sisters, grand daughters of the senator we met in the previous article. The first one marry Marcel Robert, while her sister will marry Stéphane Robert ... who is Marcel's son (obviously from a first union !)

In this work on the Ecoiffier family, I find a new record: Charles Etienne Léonard Ecoiffier, we already talked about (see article on Giauque), marry, in Grozon in 1864, to respectable age of 59 ans, Virginie Clarisse Ruty, who is 18 ... He could be his grand father !

This big difference of age will not forbid the couple to have six children and Charles Etienne Léonard was certainly well grey-haired when his last child, Emma Eulalie came to world, just before his 74th anniversary!

When searching the descendants of the Marsoulet family I called one day Eric Marsoulet, born in 1963, to know if he had got some children.

I got him on the phone, but the Eric Marsoulet I was talking with (also born in 1963) was not the right one ! After a discussion with him on the phone, I discover that he his also linked to my tree by his grand father, Louis Hippolyte from who I did not know what happened to him !

This is because he left the native village of Pretin to go to Cessey, about 100 kms away, in Doubs ! In fact the grand father from the first Eric is the brother of the grand grand father of the second Eric !

Finally, while continuing the descendance of the Perron family, I got a special case, the one of Renée Paule Marguerite Bouvant, born in 1922 in Poligny, daughter of Jeanne Perron from Saint Lothain, a far cousin.

This Renée Bouvant died in 1947 near Paris and, as she died with 25, I was convinced she had no descendance since his birth record did not mention any marriage...

In fact I learn that she got two children but his marriage was celebrated with a false name ... her resistant name!

The marriage was declared invalid, and both children she got, Fabien and Viviane, got the name of her father (Buhler) and declared on their birth record "born from unknown father". They were recognized by their father after their birth.

This is a specific situation that can occur during war!

11. Death of Franck Mouchot

I always refused to make from this gazette a necrologic paper but still there are some disparitions I have to mention...

The one of Franck, who did kill himself last march just before his 35th birthday belong to them. We knew he was seak, but his brutal disparition do not let us indifférent.

Reader from the gazette, he helped me a few years ago by doing some research in the archives and participated to the redaction of the book Mémoires de Buvilly.

Although he did not study, he had developped a passion for the history of his village, his family, where the genealogy was an important element...

His night work allowed him at a time to visit the Jura Archives during the day. Unfortunately frequent today, suicides do not seem to have been common at the time our ancestors.

Life was different, on one side nuch harder, with death, diseases, hunger and misery everytime, but without doubt with less lonesome and more solidarity among the families who where the basis of the society.

12. Poligny recording project

The Poligny recording project, that aims to get online the content of all religious records of the 6000 people city between 1600 and 1792 is going straigth forward, As of now about 20000 records have been entered in the database thanks to a tremendous team work.

So I need here to congratulate Jean Rottier from Rennes, who got a lot of support from Annick and Alain Parmentelat, both teachers in Poligny and also André Lecllet, retired teacher in Anjou.

Other persons have also participated to this work like Bernadette McBride I already talked about.

The consquences of this work, when i twill be finished will be enormous and will give a new dimension to aour genealogic researches in the area.

I already after a quick analyse could do some discoverieslike the fact that my ancestor, Jean Baptiste Huot, husband of de Claudine Rambert, who got some children in Buvilly between 1690 and 1701, moved to Poligny, where he will have another son, , Claude, in 1703 !
